

The Guardian

Hanging in progress at Salisbury Cathedral. Photograph: Ben Birchall/PA

ALL THINGS BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL

28TH August 2018

A Workman makes final adjustments to the Miracle Paintings, which go on display at Salisbury Cathedral today. The Eight canvases, which at 6ft long, and four smaller pieces, are by the Royal Academician Stephen Farthing, took eight years to complete. They are part of RA250, a series of exhibitions celebrating the founding of the academy in 1768.

